

INVERLYNN

The McGillivray

George McGillivray, another Scot and staunch loyalist, purchased Inverlynn House in 1870 from the Laing family. George was married to Caroline Fothergill who was the daughter of the great naturalist Charles Fothergill and they had 13 children. George was the person who named the home Inverlynn with 'Inver' meaning beside and 'lynn' meaning creek. McGillivray served on the Whitby Town Council and Board of Education and was one of the leaders in the movement to establish the St. Andrews Society. Inverlynn was passed down through several generations who have lived there until 2018. Famous Canadian artist Florence McGillivray made it her home in the 19th century and was well known in the area for her contributions to the community.
